

Dear Business Manager:

I would like to offer you an opportunity to provide workplace safety and personal protection training to your employees and their families at no cost to your business or your employees.

Please take a minute and review our public safety education program that we offer at no cost. As you will see, the American Council on Criminal Justice Training (ACCJT) is truly the leader in progressive public safety education and training.

After twenty-three years of professional law enforcement experience, I have concluded that the police alone cannot protect the citizens of our communities. By its very nature and constitutional limitations, police work is reactive. Therefore, to be truly safe in our daily lives, people must actively participate in the safeguarding of themselves and that of their families. It is for this reason that I created the ACCJT Public Safety Education Program.

It is the mission of the American Council on Criminal Justice Training to provide education and training that enhances the public's safety. We provide training that enhances the personal safety of grade school and daycare center children, high school and college students, employees of the private and public sectors, family members, and the elderly. There is no more noble or worthwhile endeavor that we can pursue.

Unlike a for profit company, the nonprofit organization does not produce material goods to sell for the generation of profits to finance its activities. A nonprofit public safety education institution's product is a safer child, a safer school, a safer workplace, and a safer community. How can one place a price tag on a person's safety? One cannot. Therefore, I hope you will take advantage of our offer of free public safety education training.

If you would like to schedule a public safety presentation, please contact our Oregon PSE Coordinator, Jennifer Gambill, at (541) 310-9320 or via email at jgambill@accjt.org. Or, go to our website: www.accjt.org.

Thank you for your attention to this very important matter.

Sincerely,

Howard Webb

Howard Webb
Executive Director